Your Help is Needed

SUN BEAMS

by WALTER M. BARRETT

With only a few weeks at most before the annual storms are slated, it is gratifying to note that work on the new winter sports hill is progressing so nicely. Sponsors declare that another week, with the proper representation of volunteers to do the work left undone, will see the grounds ready. We have only the highest praise for those who have given so freely of their time and efforts to push this important project to completion. Sunday morning the volunteers will assemble on the hill to complete the required work. No one is barred and everyone is asked to join in the job and put the project over in a big way.

All directors and others interested in the work in store for the chambe of commerce are asked to attend the meeting Monday night. Like every small community we have a tough task, but comparing our assets to our liabilities, we can safely assume that this job of progressing will continue with the proper interest. Opposition to progress or even apathy may prove our undoing and it is important that we work together for a common cause.

Why not make a Thanksgiving resolution this year to do all your Christmas shopping at home this year and every year?

CHRISTMAS SEALS SALE FOR T. B. AID WILL BEGIN HERE

Thousands of the stamps, the proceeds from which are used in the eradication of tuberculosis in the country, are sold each year.

Telephone Co. To Spend Big Sum In Area

Underground Cable Project To Span Mountains Is Contemplated

$55,000,000 PROGRAM

Utah to California Cable To Cost $7,000,000 Says Report

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and its subsidiaries will spend in gross construction in 1940 a total of $46,000,000 and it is now anticipating that in 1941 the gross construction will run well in excess of $55,000,000 throughout the Pacific coast, in keeping with the public's requirement of telephone service and in meeting effectively and patriotically our responsibilities in the National Defense program, it was announced by N. R. Powley, president of the company. Much of this money will be spent in the Truckee area where an underground cable will span the Sierra soon.

This two-year construction program of approximately $100,000,000, stated Powley, is one of the largest in the history of the company. The expenditures are in general in the following calssifications: land and buildings, $3,800,000; central office equipment, $25,000,000; station equipment, $41,800,000; exchange lines, $18,000,000; toll lines, $10,200,000; general equipment, $2,200,000.

Fully appreciating the significant part that the telephone company must play in the national defense plans, active steps have been and are being taken to keep in the vanguard to meet promptly and effectively the telephone requirements of the army and navy and other branches of the government, inclusive of all locations such as encampments, army posts, air corps stations and naval establishments. In anticipation of these requirements, advance planning is being done to assure that adequate facilities, properly safeguarded will be available when wanted.

Included in the construction program are several outstanding proposed projects, designed to meet increasing service demands as well as being directly related to safeguarding the service and meeting the requirements of national defense.

Prominent among these is the proposed placing of telephone buried cables from the Utah line into California and connecting with cables reaching important centers throughout the United States. The cables will provide greatly increased transcontinental telephone facilities and this project alone will cost an estimated $7,000,000.

This is one of the largest cable projects ever undertaken by the company.

Other cable of the same type will be placed between Stockton and Sacramento, over a 47 mile route at a cost of approximately $675,000. This cable furnishes additional facilities, not only between Sacramento and Stockton, but will provide an important link for long haul traffic to the northwest, southern California and the east.

Survey and engineering crews are now making headquarters in Truckee in preparation for the huge project over the Sierra mountains.

TRUCKEE OBSERVES THANKSGIVING WITH REST OF CALIFORNIA

By proclamation of Governor Olson and President Roosevelt, today has been set aside for national and statewide Thanksgiving. Many local business houses are closed in observance of the occasion.

Both Truckee schools will be recessed today and tomorrow in observance.

California celebrates the date with the majority of the states while nearby Nevada joins with a number of others on the traditional date next Thursday. Several states where the governors were undecided or especially grateful for God-granted blessings are setting aside both November 21 and November 28 for a state-wide thanksgiving.

SPORTSMEN TO GET NEW DEAL UNDER COMMISSION PLANS

SACRAMENTO— The state fish and game commission proposed a $4,623,910 biennial budget to give the sportsmen of California a new deal this week and spent a strenuous three hours defending the request from the budget-slashing knife of the department of finance.

The commission justified its record request—$1,130,634 larger than the amount appropriated by the legislature for the present biennium—with the argument that every cent is needed; that sportsmen want a new deal and are paying for it, and that there will be a surplus of more than a million dollars in the commission's fund at the end of the fiscal biennnium.

H & W CLUB AT LAKE PLANS INITIATION OF FIVE NEW MEMBERS

by MRS. LEE GARNER

An enjoyable evening was spent by members and guests of the H & W Philanthropic Club at Meeks Bay on Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. Phil Geier were hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Heller will be hosts at the next meeting on November 25 at which Mrs. Heller will give a talk on the history and accomplishments of the club. There will be initiation of five new members at Monday's meeting also.

LOCAL FOOTBALLERS BEATEN BY AUBURN SQUAD ON FRIDAY

With an aggragate score of 26 points to 92 for three opponents, the Truckee-Tahoe six-man football team lost to the Auburn six-man squad last Friday by a score of 42 to 7.

After a long run by Sam Costa of Truckee placed the ball on the 10 yard line, Bill Bechdolt of Tahoe put it over for the touchdown and Ken Foster of Truckee bucked the line for the point after touchdown.

The local team, playing its first year in the six-man field as a joint squad, is putting up a consistently better fight than the scores indicate against bigger and more experienced opponents. Coach B. F. Corrigan of Tahoe City can look forward to a good season next year with more experienced players.

AUBURN— Superior Judge Raymond McIntosh of Sierra county has filed an opinion in the Placer County Superior Court reversing the verdict of the jusitce coure in Tahoe City finding Robert Pomin guilty of reckless driving.

Permits Needed By Cutters Of Forest Trees

Closer Guard Being Placed On Poachers in National Forest Areas

SAN FRANCISCO —(RNS)— To curtail poaching on California's national forests, persons transporting Christmas trees this year will be required to carry notarized permits, S. B. Snow, U. S. regional forester, announnced here this week.

The California Highway Patrol will cooperate with the forest service by demanding these permits whenever they inspect a carrier.

Last year 50,000 trees were supplied by California national forests and an equal number is expected this season. For these trees, the government received $12,640, one fourth of which reverted to the counties where the forests are located.

LOCAL AUTO COURTS BEING IMPROVED TO MEET PUBLIC NEEDS

Work is progressing on Truckee's two auto courts as the Gateway Motel adds two new units to care for the increasing demands and Emigrant Trail Lodge installs a new structure to house the store, coffee shop, lodge and living quarters for Mrs. Margaret Ryan, owner, and Tom Ryan, manager. A fire at the latter establishment recently gutted the main building and work is being rushed to enlarge and repair this building. It will be modernized completely, Ryan said. New oil heating units have replaced the former system in the cabins.

The two new buildings at the Gateway Motel will be in keeping with the modern quarters built recently by R. Joseph. Additional improvements are being planned by the owner and will be made as rapidly as weather permits.

SAN FRANCISCO MAN LAUDS LOCAL AREA AS SPORTS CENTER

Mr. and Mrs. John Pettit, the former an official of the Yellow Cab Company and a member of the winter sports committee of the state chamber of commerce, have been spending the week at Emigratn Trail Lodge as the guests of Tom Ryan. Monday night Pettit was a guest speaker at the Truckee-Tahoe Rotary Club.

Pettit, one of the directors of the San Francisco Exposition, was greatly impressed with this region from the standpoint of winter sport activity and leaves Sunday with a score of good reports to be imparted to snow sports enthusiasts.

COLD FAILS TO STOP BUILDING ACTIVITY IN TAHOE REGION

TAHOE CITY— C. W. Petersen of Carnelian Bay store is remodeling and enlarging his home which was damaged by fire recently.

The large new home at Carnelian Bay, under construction for Dr. A. J. Hood of Reno, will be equipped with oil burning furnaces and for year 'round use, according to Petersen, the contractor. The Reno doctor bought 700 feet of lakefront property from the Zellerbach Paper Company this fall.

A large new home at Tahoe Park was begun last week by N. R. Mayfield, contractor, for R. O. Bolman of Palo Alto.

Mayfield is completely remodeling the large garage building he recently moved to Lake Street and will lease it in the spring.

Y. F. Ball of Lakeview Drive is adding to his recently finished home.

New homes also on Lakeview Drive have been built by Virgil Gwinn, Clarence Petersen and Dyke Moore.

Winter Sports equipment at the south-end of the lake newly built includes a large ski jump at Bijou for John Keller and skating ponds for M. Lukens and at Jamieson's Beach.

ALIENS ADVISED TO REGISTER PRIOR TO POST OFFICE RUSH

December 26 this year will mean more to 800,000 residents of this country than just the day after Christmas. This is the last day upon which aliens may register and be fingerprinted without incurring federal penalties of six months in jail, a $1,000 fine or both.

Registration for selective service does not fulfill the requirements of alien registration and signing up for one does not automatically mean you have complied with the other.

Foreign-born war veterans did not receive citizenship by such service without due formality and this registration is incumbent upon him as well as any other alien.

The post office department and the justice department are ready to aid in this work and no fee is collectable so aliens are warned to beware of racketeers who tell them they can fix things.

If you are are foreign born and have not attained full citizenship, see to it that you are registered by December 26. Children under 14 must be registered by their parents or guardians.

Because of the usual Christmas season rush at post offices, aliens who have not already registered are urged to do so at once.

LECTURER SPEAKS ON AUSTRALIA TO LOCAL AUDIENCE

An attentive local audience Monday night heard a lecture on primitive Australia by Herbert J. Bass, a native of Australia. Bass' colorful lecture covered the aborigines, topography and wild life and was illustrated by stereoptican slides and other exhibits.

The lecture was held at the grammar school auditorium under the joint sponsorship of the boards of trustees of the grammar school and high school here. Bass is a nationally-known speaker and traveler and well versed in his subject. He is understood to be a divinity student affiliated with the Christian Church.

The new president appointed Orlan H. Sanders, Associated station operator, as sergeant at arms, the post previously held by Barrett.

Routine business occupied the time of the 15 members in attendance at George's Cafe.

A meeting for the reorganization of the board of directors will be held Monday night at 7:30 at the Bank of America and all incumbent directors and interested members are urged to attend.

RED CROSS DRIVE

Although nothing startling, the Red Cross Roll Call drive is making good progress here, according to reports from the workers under Mrs. Frank Titus. Those who have not already contributed are urged to do so soon as the drive ends on November 30.

At Tahoe City Mrs. E. W. Bliss is chairman in charge with Mrs. Stella Watson and Mrs. M. Matthews as her assistants.

The Tahoe chapter has been doing yeoman service in connection with the War Relief program. workers have knittde the following garments: 54 sweaters, 18 pairs of socks, three beanies, four crocheted shawls and a child's muffler; the following have been sewed by members: 20 children's dresses, nine women's dresses, sibed shirts, two dressing gowns, four tennis flannel crib quilts, two extra bonnets, four extra kimonas, and two extra slips.

Ski Hill Near Completion As Plans Progress

Trails Being Constructed For First Big Snow In This Area

MORE LABOR NEEDED

Membership Money Gives Out As Pledges Sought By Group

Providing the rope which is expected to arrive here this week is available and that sufficient volunteer labor on the hill Sunday, Truckee's winter sports area will be all set for the first major snow of the year.

This was announced at a meeting of the Truckee Outing Club held on Tuesday evening in the pavilion and attended by 24 members. President Yell Nobles presided at the busy session.

The first payment on the property being purchased under a contract plan from the Kruger Estate Company has been made, the scaffold and pavilion have been repaired and work has been completed on the small building to house the up-ski equipment, all of which is on the grounds with the exception of the rope.

The 15-horsepower electric motor with its required equipment has been installed and a line has been run from a terminal near the Truckee River to the motor shed. The up-ski run has been cleared of brush and trees and ski runs are now being prepared for the first snow.

All this work, with the exception of the carpenter project on the scaffold and pavilion and a few minor labor jobs, has been accomplished through volunteer work. However, the necessary expenses have mounted to a point where the membership fees are exhausted and money pledged will have to be paid if the plans are to continue to progress.

An added feature to the contemplated program will be the preparation and operation of the ice rink Robert Siebold and Robert Bower were appointed to have charge of this portion of the program and they announced Tuesday that they would work out a charge schedule and attempt to have the rink in readiness in the near future.

ROTARY CLUB SEES VIEWS OF NEARBY WINTER CENTER

The Truckee-Tahoe Rotary Club's members were entertained by stereopticon slides of The Sugar Bowl by Hans Hagemasker at their weekly meeting Monday night. Stan Gregory was program chairman.

President Theodore Schleuter and Joe Mattos were absent attending a district meeting at Quincy. In Schleuter's absence V. E. Pearson presided.

IL DUCE'S DILEMMA

Britain's triumphant air battle at Taranto which crippled the Italian fleet has provided one more serious jolt to the drive of Axis powers into the Near East. On land meanwhile, the stubbornly resisting Greeks have stayed the Italian advance, yet the fierce resistance of the soldiers of Greece has hardly been more remarkable than Italy's semi-official explanation of why Il Duce's invaders have fared so poorly. The government mouthpiece, Virginio Gayda, lamely points out that Italy was not fully prepared to attack when she launched her invasion into Greece! There is more than a hint in this of the punch-drunk, over-confident boxer who, on emerging dazed, battered and bleeding from the ring, mumbles, "We wuz robbed!" However, if it be true that Italy was not fully prepared to attack, it is not her soldiers who can be derided but their impetuous and fumbling Duce, trapped by his imperial dreams, by his partnership with Germany, and by the rigorous necessity of "producing results". Well, the results have been produced, but they have not strengthened the hand of Mussolini.

NOT ALWAYS SABOTAGE

No explosion in America's industrial plants in times like the present can escape the suspicion of having been caused by sabotage. That suspicion is far from unreasonable, as the country's experience during the World War proved. But the Federal Bureau of Investigation has pointed out a fact that should not go unheeded if the country is to be spared an attack of needless jitters. And this is that the production speed-up of the defense program is almost certain to increase the number of industrial accidents. The pressure of faster work means less caution, and the addition of new employees adds hazard due to lack of familiarity with safety precautions. In the three explosions which occurred recently in industrial plants in the East, no evidence was found of sabotage. It is well to remember that even in armament production, accidents can happen.

HOMES MAKE A RECORD

The defense program is not the only great building job going forward in the United States. Home-building has also been writing an action-filled story. Residential construction all over the nation in September was all of 39 per cent higher than in the previous September. In September 1940, $109 million worth of new family dwelling units were constructed. The boom in defense employment undoubtedly played its part in this. So, probably, did the Selective Service Act. Most certainly, the continuing rapid advance of highway transportation did, enabling prospective home-owners to buy and build in less costly semi-urban zones, knowing that as far as motor transport is concerned, wherever there's a road, there goods and supplies can be easily and speedily delivered. Join the flexibility and economy of highway transportation to the demand for low-cost housing and you have a clue to leading factors in the home building drive. In plain dollars and cents, the real push behind that drive can be seen in the fact that this September's new dwelling units exceeded last September's in value—as well as in number—by more than $30 million.

NEW JOBS FOR MIGRANTS

The long-standing migrant problem is being solved—partially—not on the land but in the quickening pace of defense production. Reports from New England, from the Great Lakes region, from the Southwest and Middle Atlantic states, indicate that increasing numbers of farm workers are being drawn from the fields and into defense work, particularly to jobs where semi-skilled or unskilled labor can be employed. Even in Pacific Coast states, where the migrant tide usually reaches its greatest peak, there have been difficulties in securing harvest workers. The temporary speed-up in defense production will anchor a considerable number of footloose workers to steady jobs for a time, but the nation has yet to provide a satisfactory solution for its vast army of migrant laborers.

A WORD TO THE CRITICS

To critics who say the press has lost its standing because the electorate did not follow the editorial opinion of many newspapers, Publisher Sulzberger of the New York Times has made eloquent reply: "The sneerers fail to realize that it was the news which these same newspapers published day after day that made it possible for the electorate to form its own opinion and come to a different conclusion from that which the papers had reached. So long as that is possible we are safe." Let critics please copy.

THANKSGIVING DAY—

The nation has much to be thankful for this Thanksgiving Day.

America's horn of plenty is richer by far than the slim harvests which graced the boards of the Pilgrim Fathers' homes more than three centuries ago and led them to set a special day for thanking a kindly Providence.

America's storehouses of natural wealth span a whole continent. Ours is a land of great forests and mighty rivers, of fertile farmlands sweeping to the horizon's end over plains and the slopes of sheltered valleys, of humming industries, strong-sinewed giants helping to make and keep a nation strong.

Amferica has that possession, dear as life itself, which moved a dauntless band of freedom-hungering pilgrims to seek on these shores a place where people might think their own thoughts, speak their own minds, and worship God in the way that best pleased them. This freedom they found. This freedom is ours still, and for it humble thanks are due on this, as on the first, Thanksgiving Day.

In this New World, the early freedom seekers discovered a sanctuary undisturbed by the tyrannies of the Old World from whence they fled. Our land is still that sanctuary.

For all these gifts, the fertility of her teeming earth, the might of her productive engines and machines, and for the unconquerable spirit of her free people, America gives thanks on her Day of Thanksgiving.

NEVER FORGET—

Today, as many an historian has been pointing out, we are witnessing an attefpted world revolution. The purpose of Nazism, Fascism and Communism are, basically, to destroy the established economic and social orders of the world, and to put in their place an entirely different order.

In attaining that revolutionary goal, the first step invariably taken by the total governments, when seizing power in their own countries, has been to take over all of credit—to take control of money out of private hands and place it in the hands of the ruling clique. The dictators realize that whoever controls a nation's money and credit, controls that nation in every phase of its life.

There is a lesson in this for the United States. Under our system, the people control their money. Those who take care f it for them, such as the banks, are simply the people's fiscal servants, and are subjected to the most stringent public regulation. That system has worked. It is the system of private enterprise—the system of democracy—the system of a free and sovereign people.

There are those who would change this system and give government an infinitely greater control over the nation's money and credit. Often their arguments are plausible. But, if they have their way, the only possible end will be economic dictatorship—to be followed in due course by social dictatorship. Those are hard words, but Europe has shown us how true they are. Let them not be forgotten here.

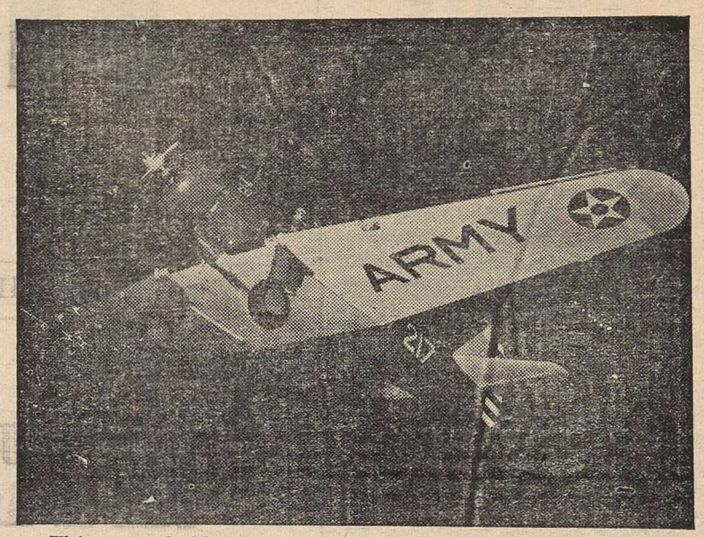
Army Training Airplane in Night Flight



This remarkable night aerial photograph of one of the U. S. Army Air Corps training planes was made by a Randolph Field, Texas, photographer while the plane was flying at an altitude of several thousand feet above the main airdrome at the Army's "West Point of the Air."

This is the type of basic training airplane used for the secondary phase of training of Flying Cadets at the Army Air Corps Primary Flying School.

Every six weeks a new class of Flying Cadets arrives at Randolph Field for primary training in military aviation. As they advance and become qualified, Flying Cadets then acquire additional skill in aerial acrobatics, night flying, and "blind" flying.

These future pilots at Randolph Field are between 20 and 27 years of age and while in training as Flying Cadets receive $75 per month together with maintenance, uniforms, and medical care.

This remarkable night aerial photograph of a Basic Training airplane was made by the Randolph Field Photographic Department while the plane was flying at an altitude of several thousand feet over the main airdrome. This is the type of plane used for the secondary phase of training of Fyling Cadets at the Air Corps Primary Flying School. Future pilots of Uncle Sam's air force receive a thorough course in the art of flying military aircraft before their graduation from Kelly Field, the Advanced Flying School. After their Primary course, which will be given at 18 civilian flying schools throughout the nation, the Flying Cadets are transferred to the West Point of the Air for training on these BT-9s, as shown in the photograph. Sixty-five hours of flying time, more than half of which is solo, will be acquired by each Cadet during Primary Stage, Then, in the larger, faster basic trainers, they acquire additional skill in aerial acrobatics, night flying, and blind flying. During the course of instruction at the various schools, the Flying Cadets are paid $75 per month, in addition to their food, slate blue uniforms, lodging, etc. Young men between the ages of 20 and 27 are eligible for enrollment as Flying Cadets. Those who have at least two years of college education are exempt from a written mental examination. Upon completion of the course in flying, the Cadets receive their coveted "wings", insignia of a military airplane pilot. They are then commissioned as a Second Lieutenant in the Air Corps Reserve and transferred to tactical stations of the Air Corps for duty.

Proving the Power Of the Press

OMAHA, Neb. —(UP)— The pugnosed bulldog Mrs. Effie Garsdale bought from the city pound failed to respond to the usual treatment given an animal. Pork chops, steaks and liver didn't please the animal and despite especial attention, the dog remained gloomy.

At wits' end, Mrs. Garsdale appealed to the editors of a local newspaper to find the dog's original owner.

The day the account about the dog appeared its owner was located, Emil Seier of Plattsmouth, Neb., about 20 miles from Omaha.

"Hello Mac," he shouted to the dog. The dog jumped about frantically. "Lady, that's my dog and you can name your own price. I've been looking for him for two years."

Seier got the dog.

CALIFORNIA MAN TO TRY HAND AT COLONY FREE OF CRIME AND NOISE OFF PANAMA

H. B Henry of Newport Beach, Calif., who has had a life-long dream of founding a colony where life would be marked by the absence of crime, dishonesty, greed and the noise and strain of our "civilzation", has prepared plans expected to enable the fulfillment of his dream.

Henry, who has been actively working on a plan to found a colony for the past five years and who has organized a group known as the Chirote Colony, said recently a deal had been completed for the purchase of Chirote Island at a cost of $6,000.

The island is located half a mile off the coast of Panama and comprises 6,000 acres of jungle and heavily wooded territory.

Henry said he expects to leave sometime in December for the island, accompanied by one Long Beach family, a Los Angeles man andn another from Chicago. They will found the colony and other families in the group of 25 comprising the organization will follow as they are able, he said.

While a high ideal of living is the main reason for founding the colony, its originator says, there must be an economic side to the project to permit life. Hence it is the plan of the group to develop agriculture on the island, raising fresh vegetables to supply Panamanian cities. Canoes or row boats will enable personal transporation between the island and the mainland, while supplies and freight may be delivered twice a week by steamer, he added.

Henry revealed he has provided a strict code to which all members of the colony must adhere to be eligible to membership. The code includes honesty with each other, to live a life that will maintain health, to be active in the colony's enterprises, to respect the property rights of other members, to have tolerance and be friendly.

Rights and privilges of the group include the right to a native thatched house, use of all land needed for home and garden, employment on community improvements ,to gather all fruits needed, to attend community school, to eat and dress as one pleases.

The blaze lighted the shoreline for miles around.

The Nevada was one of the oldest boats on the lake having at one time run in competition to the old Meteor which had the lake mail carrying contract at that time.

It was owned by Harry Comstock who now owns Brockway Resort. Comstock sold it to the Transportation Company who remodeled it and placed it in auxiliary service to their other boats.

The Nevada had not been used for some time past.

THANKSGIVING DAY

THE Psalmist sang (Psalms 69: 30), "I will praise the name of God with a song, and will magnify him with thanksgiving." Thanksgiving Day, in the United States, originated with the Pilgrims, who set apart a day for thanksgiving to God after their first harvest in 1621. Later on, President Lincoln appointed the last Thursday in November, 1863, to be set aside for thanksgiving and praise to God.

The Pilgrims encountered many difficult problems in establishing their homes in a new land, but through steadily turning to their heavenly Father for help they were guided through them all. Is it any wonder that their sense of gratitude for their deliverance caused them to render thanks to the Giver of all good gifts?

As Thanksgiving Day recurs through the years, we are reminded of the Psalmist's statement (Psalms 26:6, 7), "I will wash mine hands in innocency: . . . that I may publish with the voice of thanksgiving, and tell of all thy wondrous works." Today our hearts go out in gratitude to God, divine Love, who is leading the people of many nations through the Red Sea and the wilderness of materiality, and who will deliver them as they seek His presence. In the face of "wars and rumours of wars," we can lift our thought in thanksgiving to God; for is there not always something for which we can be thankful? In "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" (pp. 149, 150) Mary Baker Eddy writes: "Remember, thou canst be brought into no condition, be it ever so severe, where Love has not been before thee and where its tender lesson is not awaiting thee. Therefore despair not nor murmur, for that which seeketh to save, to heal, and to deliver, will guide thee, if thou seekest this guidance." The demonstrable truth that divine Love is with us and will guide us if we seek its guidance, is indeed cause for thanksgiving. . . .

We must maintain this constant thanksgiving in our thought. As we acknowledge the one God, we begin to comprehend our true habitation in the kingdom of heaven, and are safe therein. This is our defense, which can never be taken from us, wherever we may be. We are safe and protected under all circumstances and conditions if we acknowledge God's allness and our unity with Him. Noah in the ark, Joseph in exile, the Hebrews in the fiery furnace, Daniel in the lions' den, and Jesus—most glorious of all—understood and proved God's supremacy. They were protected through every trying experience and thus proved the powerlessness of mortal mind. . . .

In what may seem a saddened home, darkened by mortal mind's illusions, in apprehension of still other contests to be waged, one may express thanksgiving that God is ever present, and that right must and does win the victory over the claims of evil. Mortal mind claims to put heavy burdens upon us. It attempts to bring utter despair and despondency; it appears to lay waste the achievements of years of progressive work, but there rings forth the command that sounded in the ears of the childen of Israel to go forward. We should never look back. Looking back into matter means looking back into illusion. Evil is not power, reality, or substance. The aggressive suggestions of evil would claim to outdo the love of God, but thought which trusts in Him cannot be mesmerized into admitting that evil has reality, personality, place, or power.

Thanksgiving Day should mean that we give our whole-hearted praise to God, the omnipresent Mind, who loves and cares for all His children. It is not a day to be spent in wasting, wantonness, or in the gratification of the senses. Rather is it a holy day, in which thought should be lifted in thanksgiving to God, and to the men and women throughout the centuries who have given unselfishly to the cause of freedom and the betterment of mankind. In response to a request from a newspaper for "a sentiment on what the last Thanksgiving Day of the nineteenth century should signify to all mankind," Mrs. Eddy said, in part, it signified that "the Christ-spirit will cleanse the earth of human gore; that civilization, peace between nations, and the brotherhood of man should be established, and justice plead not vainly in behalf of the sacred rights of individuals, peoples, and nations" (Miscellany, pp. 264, 265). This sets forth the glorious purpose of Thanksgiving Day.

TAHOE PETITIONERS READMITTED TO OLD DISTRICT BY BOARD

AUBURN— An issue affecting the Kings Beach and Tahoe Lake schools has been decided between delegations from North Tahoe and Tahoe City and the Placer county board of supervisors.

Lake shore residents living a considerable distance north of Tahoe City had recently petitioned that their territory be again included in the Tahoe Lake school district.

Residents living at Kings Beach and farther north favored the territory being left in the North Tahoe (Kings Beach) district.

The supervisors voted that the disputed section be returned and included in the Tahoe Lake (Tahoe City) school district.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC VICE PRESIDENT LAUDS TRANSPORTATION ACT OF 1940 AS BOON TO RAILROADS IN REGARD TO I. C. C. ACTION

The declaration of policy embodied in the 1940 Transportation Act is the most heartening development for the future of railroads in many years, according to J. T. Saunders, vice president system freight traffic, Southern Pacific Company.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Association of American Railroads recently in Ne wYork, Saunders referred to this part of the act as 'almost a transportation bill of rights' in that Congress for the first time has adopted a policy of placing the Amercan ralroads on a par with their heretofore more favorably treated competitors in the matter of governmental regulation.

"The policy is, first an affirmative statement of what is desirable in a transportation system for the welfare of the country, and, second, and to my mind the more important, the definite declaration that all of the provisions of the act shall be administered and enforced wth a view to carrying out the policy," he said.

"Those who have not had the responsibility of attempting to meet the tremendous impact of competing forms of transportation can hardly realize the extent t which this offers hope for the future of the railroads. For five years the Interstate Commerce Commission has been under Congressional mandate to recognize and preserve the inherent advantages of motor transportation, and for 20 years under a similar mandate, to promote, encourage and develop water transportation. And this notwithstanding the fact that in those 20 years every commission or committee, official or private, investigating transportation has universally declared the railroads are the backbone of the American transportation system."

STATE MOTOR VEHICLES DEPARTMENT TO SAVE MONEY ON POSTAGE; REGISTRATION FEE FOR 1941 COMPUTED FROM '40 LICENSE

SACRAMENTO —(DMV)— Automobile owners seeking 1941 license plates will not be notified this year by postcard of the amount due in vehicle license and registration fees as in previous years.

The total amount due is indicated on the lower left hand side of the 1940 registration card. James M. Carter, director of the department of motor vehicles, announced this week it will be necessary only for the motorist to submit this card with the amount of the fee when the application is filed.

The renewal season will begin January 2nd and end February 4th. Plates may be obtained at any branch office of the Department or authorized motor clubs.

The amount of the total fee due in 1942 will be indicated on the registration card the motorist receives for 1941.

Plates issued for 1941 will have a black background with characters in orange, a reversal of this year's color scheme.

Practically all the plates will have six characters. There will be no low or special numbers of any kind.

Persons owning motor vehicles upon which there is any question relating to title or transfer were advised by Carter to go at once to the nearest plate issuing office to determine what procedure will be necessary for them to obtain a California license. This is particularly applicable to persons operating vehicles registered in other states.

TOMATO JUICE IN 10 YEARS BECOMES MAJOR DIET ITEM

SAN FRANCISCO —(RNS)— Canned tomato juice, unknown to the public ten years ago, today rated as a major product on the grocer's shelf.

Introduced in 1930, it gained immediate favor with the consuming public. During the current year more than 10,000,000 cases were packed by California canneries.

Fruit juices—grapefruit, pineapple, lemon, orange—has shown similar gains, the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reports.

During the current year the total pack of tomato and fruit juices in the U. S. and Hawaii hit an all time high with 42,250,000 cases.

Politically Speaking

by JOHN W. DUNLAP
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO —(UP)— A battle seems to be in the making for the position of assembly speaker at the 1941 legislative session, despite the fact that the anti-adminnstration forces which elected Gordon Garland to that spot a year ago are still in numerical control of the lower house.

The odds right now are overwhelmingly in favor of Garland being continued in the gavel-wielding position but there are a number of factions which must be kept in line between now and January 1, any of which could upset the narrow margin by which the Tulare assemblyman was originally elected.

The situation in the assembly is that there are actually three political parties, with a small group of conservative Democrats holding the balance of power. Neither the Republicans nor the Democrats can swing a majority without mustering some of the votes from the opposite camp or gaining support of the anti-administration Democrats.

The Republicans are expected to make a determined drive to elect one of their own number to the speaker's position. In joining with the conservative Democrats to elect Garland they were in the position of supporting a man nominally in the opposing party, although all members of the coalition were agreed on their opposition to Gov. Culbert Olson's administration.

The G. O. P. gained slightly in the lower house membership in the general election but failed by three members to obtain the 41 votes necessary for ac lear majority.

Nevertheless at least two Republican assemblymen—Thomas Maloney of San Francisco and Gardiner Johnson of Berkeley—are actively seeking the speakership. There is a possibility that an agreement might be reached on one these men, or another Republican, but most members of the Democratic bloc feel they are entitled to the office as a reward for turning against the governor.

One member of this group pointed out that despite the split in the Democratic ranks at the last session, the ten conservatives still did not desert their party in selecting a speaker but won Republican support for their candidate.

He said it was doubtful that they would go so far as to turn the speakership over to the Republicans while there is a numerical Democratic majority in the lower house.

This number declared that if the Republicans refuse to continue next session on that basis, it might be possible to arrange a compromise with the administration on some Democrat other than Garland.

He sugested that such an agreement might be reached on Cecil King, Los Angeles, who has taken pretty much of an in-between position in the controversy between the two Democratic factions. Informal questioning of persons close to the governor's office indicated that King would be satisfactory to the adminstration on a compromise basis.

Still another possibility—although admittedly vague—is that some sort of a coalition could be devised between the adminstration and the Republicans. Assemblyman Maloney in particular has many friends among the administration and while voting with the controlling coalition at the last session he has refrained from indulging in purely partisan attacks on the governor and his policies.

Two legislative contests which were not settled until long after the election resulted in the Democrats gaining an unexpected seat in the assembly and then Republicans increasing their majority in the senate by one member.

The theoretical Democratic majority in the lower house became 42 to 38 when final returns in San Bernardino County showed Frank C. Russell of Crestline defeated Waldo Willhoft of Colton, the Republican candidate.

In the senate contest, H. R. Judah, former publisher and state highway commissioner, was elected by a margin of 14 votes in Santa Cruz county over his Democratic opponent, Roy M. Sayre of Watsonville.

WINGS FOR AMERICA

by Don Wiley

MEMBER, AVIATION WRITERS ASS'N

This may sound like the sort of boastful exaggeration the rest of the nation likes to ascribe to California, but so help me it's the literal truth:

The Consolidated Aircraft Corporation's plant at Lindbergh Field, San Diego, is so big the employes use bicycles.

You see the bikes parked in racks at intersections between the factory buildings. You observe dozens of workers pedaling merrily from one building to another, tools or blueprints in wire baskets slung on the handlebars. And every so often you step aside for one of those tricky little motor scooters.

They Need Space

Consolidated needs a big factory, for it builds big ships, and is building them at top speed.

This is the home nest of the famous PBYs, those twin - motored patrol bomber flying boats seen so frequently in the newsreels. The PBYs have given new eyes to the Navy, which already has more than 200 of them, man yof which have made amazing 2500 to 3000-mile non-stop mass flights to such distant points as Pearl Harbor and Coco Solo, Panama. If activities at Consolidated are any criterion, the Navy is going to have a lot more of them in the future.

Inside the factory you see long lines of PBYs in various stages of construction. Outside are more ships, undergoing final assembly. And if Major R. H. Fleet, Consolidated's energetic president, is too busy to go through the factory, he has only to step from his office and glance skyward to see how his PBYs are doing. For the sky over San Diego is seldom free of the patrol bombers droning to and from their base on North Island.

Even Bigger Ships

Consolidated is also speeding production of two new types, bigger even than the PBYs, which ought to prove sturdy bulwarks of American defense.

One type is a regular aerial battleship—a four-motored monster designated the PB2Y—about which the Navy hasn't yet released any performance or armament figures. The PB2Y is described as a patrol bomber ("PB stands for patrol bomber) but someone has very aptly called it a "flying flagship." Visitors to the San Francisco Exposition may recall seeing the first PB2Y resting on the Treasure Island lagoon last fall.

New Army Bomber

The other big fellow is a 40,000 pound (gross weight) land bomber now in production for the Army. Known by the Air Corps as the B-24, this high-wing monoplane has a wing span of 110 feet, will carry a crew of six to nine men and tote a four-ton bomb load.

The Army admits the speed of the B-24 is "more than 300 miles per hour." After a glimpse of the four 1200-horsepower radial motors and the clean design of the ship, our guess would be that that figure is mild, to say the least.

Consolidated is busy on big orders of PB2Ys and B-24s.

It Opened His Eyes

Your correspondent happened to tour Consolidated recently with a group of aeronautical executives from the East. One of them glanced at the long lines of aircraft being completed in the open air and exclaimed:

"Good Lord, look at that! Imagine being able to do all that work outdoors."

For this gentleman came from a part of the nation where winter confines aircraft production to tightly-built, heated factories. And it was a shock to him to realize that Consolidated, which has 867,000 square feet of covered factory space (and is constructing an additional 700,000 square feet) has an almost equal amount of uncovered but paved working space and is able to do 30 per cent of its assembly work outdoors.

Looks like there is something to this California sunshine after all.

Traveling Around America

LOADING FINGERS AND HANDS

THESE longshoremen, believe it or not, are loading thousands of fingers and hands into the holds of a Grace Line ship in Guayaquil, Ecuador We're speaking of bananas, of course. In the trade—bunches of bananas are known as stems Each bunch is made up of "hands" or clusters having ten to twenty "fingers," as the individual bananas are called. Only those with six or more "hands" usually are considered marketable, and they fall into classes known as sixes, sevens, eights and nines. though many times bunches contain more than nine hands The handling of the "stems" is of the utmost importance for when the fruit is harvested it is still alive—drawing nourishment from the stock, with sap still flowing and tissues changing as the ripening process continues. Close timing is observed all along the way from the picking of the fruit to its delivery to the far-away neighborhood store.

With correct timing the fruit does not reach the port for loading until the ship is ready to receive it. If the banana trains or trucks or barges do not proceed direct to the dock, long chains of natives pass the "stems" rapidly to the ship. The bunches are quickly but thoroughly inspected again, then placed on conveyor belts which carry them to the holds where experienced laborers receive them, carefully stow them in the bins to which each class belongs with foremen overseeing the work and counting the bunches in each class. The "stems" usually are placed in three tiers—two standing and one flat, or vice versa, so that the air can circulate between them. As soon as the hatches are battened down the temperature is reduced as quickly as possible by refrigeration, to 57°F., a temperature which is maintained throughout the voyage. The holds also are well ventilated for vitiated air is quite as harmful to the banana in transit as heat and humidity After the fruit is all tucked away stowage plans are drawn up showing the location and quantity of the various classes, so that no time need be lost in speeding the bananas to their final destination when they reach the end of the voyage.

PURGE AFTERMATH

Governor Olson's "purge that failed" promises to have serious consequences for the administration during the 1941 session of the legislature. The governor, in past session, has mustered as high as 33 votes in the assembly on major porposals—a good bargaining bloc, in not a majority. But his "purge" back-fired so badly that his maximum strength in the lower house has now dwindled to only 24 out of 80 members.

PARI-MUTUEL THREAT

As a consequence of the recent race track scandals, there'll be a determined attempt at the January session of the legislature, our spy advises, to outlaw pari-mutuel betting in California. And business houses, irritated by fellows who bet and let their credit go hang, may join with the reform element in backing the proposal.

PATRONAGE PROBLEM

Who'll get the patronage? That's the question now at issue in Democratic circles in California. U. S. Senator Sheridan Downey, who has been shorted in the past, is now in line for pletny—because Mr. Downey forgot his antipathy to the third term and went down the line for Mr. Roosevelt. On the other hand, Governor Olson, as National Committeeman from California, expects more than a few bones. And Bill Malone, the Democratic State Chairman, has a lot of hungry boys just longing for jobs. It's a three-horned dilemma.

Railroadiana

Grades from 0.01 to 1.00 per cent predominate on main lines in this country. In mountainous territory, grades up to 2.2 per cent are sometimes necessary. Grades in excess of 2.2. per cent on main lines are uncommon.

The steepest known grade on a standard railroad in the U. S. is 5.80 per cent. This is on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Madison, Ind., where the road ascends the Ohio River bank. The grade extends about 7,000 feet and the climb is about 400 feet. Saddle-tank locomotives are operated on this track.

WOODEN BOX TRADE ABROAD HELPED BY CONFICT IN EUROPE

SAN FRANCISCO —(RNS)— One of the few industries able to point to an increase in their export trade today was the wooden box manufacturers.

At the National Wooden Box Association convention here members were informed than export of shook to South Africa now totals 25 million feet annually. This trade was formerly supplied by the Scandanavian countries.

California's share in the sawn-wooden box trade is $7,500,000 annually, Jack H. Dobbin, president of the Wooden Box Institute, declared.
